SAUNDERS HELD.

The Examining Court Does Not Think the Killing of Judge Egbert Justifiable.

And Holds the Prisoner in Heavy Bond.

The Testimony as Presented by Both Sides.

HELD IN $5,000.—Thirteen days after the killing of Judge Egbert, the examining trial of Marshal W. T. Saunders was at last held Tuesday, and resulted in his being held in $5,000 bail, Judge Varnon remarking that if he did not know the prisoner's financial condition he would have placed it at $10,000. Not being able at the time to present bondsmen, Saunders was lodged in jail. It is said that his friends will make the bond in a few days. We believe that if he had been sent to jail in the first place, instead of being permitted to go practically free, it would have been much better for him. There is nothing more exasperating to the friends of the slain man than to see the one who has done the bloody work, allowed his freedom, and nothing so quickly induces sympathy as his immediate incarceration and a show at least of helplessness and sorrow for the act.

G. W. Lee was the first witness called for the Commonwealth. He is barkeeper for Curtis Gover, whose saloon occupies one side of the entrance to his livery stable at Crab Orchard. On the night of the killing Nath Woodcock, Jim Gilkerson, Mr. Fife, Tom Pettus and the prisoner were in the saloon. The two first named, who were drinking, quarreled and Woodcock slapped Gilkerson's face. Woodcock then went to the rear of the stable, followed by Saunders, who said something which did not understand. They soon came back together and Saunders said Woodcock ought to apologize. Gilkerson refused to accept an apology and talked in a loud and angry tone. At this juncture Judge Egbert came in and said: "Gentlemen, this noise must be stopped. I have been disturbed by it for an hour. You can consider yourselves under arrest and report at 9 o'clock to-morrow." Saunders, who was standing near, remarked: "If you are going to run this business I'll go home." Egbert asked him what he said and he repeated, adding, "this is not the first time you have tried to interfere in my duties." Egbert responded: "You are a d—n liar," and Saunders replied, "If you come out I'll shoot you." All the parties were in the driveway of the stable. Saunders started out and Egbert following said, "Saunders, you are a d—n fool; you don't want to hurt me." Both men had turned up street to the left, when Saunders fired two shots in quick succession, one entering Egbert's throat on the left and ranging down came out at his back, the other entered his left shoulder. The men were about three steps apart. Egbert had up his right hand gestulating at the time he was shot, the left hand at his side. After he was shot he walked back in drive way and said "Send for doctor." He then began to gurgle and throw up blood. Starting home he faltered and said, "If I have any friends come to me now, he has killed me." Everybody had gotten out of sight except witnesses, who went to him, when he said, "I don't see why he shot me, I did nothing." I helped to undress him and found no weapon on his person but a very small pen knife. Egbert was not excited when he came in. Did not hear Saunders tell the men he was marshal.

Tom Pettus: Was sitting on bench in drive way. Woodcock and Gilkerson were talking loud when Judge Egbert came in. Told them the noise had to be stopped and to consider themselves under arrest. Saunders said, "If you are going to run this I'll quit, and added, this isn't the first time you have tried it." Egbert called him a d—n liar and Saunders said, "If you will come out here I'll shoot you." Egbert said, "You are a d—n fool and followed. Two shots were fired, but I didn't see them. Afterwards told Saunders he had shot Egbert and he said I don't care a dog gone if I have.

J. B. Gilkerson: Several of us were at Curtis's bar taking a drink when Nath Woodcock became excited and slapped my face. Some loud talking followed. Andy Egbert came in and said this noise must be stopped and I warn you to appear before me in the morning. Saunders said if you are going to run this thing I'll quit. Didn't hear what Egbert said; heard shots, but did not see them. Woodcock and myself took three drinks. I was not a competent judge of Woodcock's condition. Egbert spoke in loud tones when he told us to keep quiet. He was excited, but his manners were not offensive.

Walker Edmiston saw the shots fired, but heard no talk. He ran back in stable; saw several men hiding in stalls and got in one himself.

Dave Payne: Saw Egbert 15 minutes after he was shot. He had no weapons on his person. Helped to dress him.

Dr. Pettus: Saw Egbert before he died. Fatal wound in neck. Saw no weapons on his person. Heard Egbert make no statement. Had heard Saunders complain of Egbert as trying to usurp his authority. Said Egbert had taken up two or three men and fined them and knocked him out of his fees. Said it in quiet manner, however. I have stated that I feared trouble between the two, as each had complained of the other in my presence. Egbert was an excitable man and very plain spoken when drinking. Don't know whether he was drinking at time of killing. Saunders is a feeble man, nervous temperament, has suffered from enlarged liver and has had indications of paralysis, also heart trouble. Egbert was active man and two punch for Saunders.

Mrs. Egbert: Was home night of the shooting. Heard the noise at the stable. We could not sleep and the fuss continued for an hour before my husband went over to see what the trouble was. My husband was not drinking and had not been for some time.

J. R. Bailey: Never heard Saunders complain of Egbert, but did hear him say he (Egbert) had given writs to others to serve when they should have been given to him, which cut him out of the fees. Never knew that ill feeling existed. Egbert clerked for me 6 or 7 months. Have heard of his being quarrelsome when drinking. Never heard of his carrying a pistol. He did buy one from me when he clerked, which was several years ago, but when he quit he sold it back to me.

J. A. Stephenson: Heard Saunders say Egbert did not like him about three months ago. I am a distant relative of Egbert.

The prosecution here announced its case in chief and the defense introduced the prisoner, who stated: Have been marshal of Crab Orchard 10 or 12 years. Egbert police judge about two years. I was sick from February to June with something like paralysis, also suffered with heart, liver and spinal troubles. Weight when in health 175 to 180 pounds, now 143. After supper on night of shooting I went down town and after going in several stores stopped at Gover's livery stable. Woodcock and Gilkerson with two or three others were there. I began to talk to Woodcock, who invited me and the crowd to drink. I took bitters. Woodcock spoke of Gilkerson being a friend. I then went out. Woodcock and Gilkerson followed. We talked about the war and G. laughed and told W. you were never in the war. Gilkerson made fun of Woodcock and he struck him. I told W. I was marshal and he mustn't do that. I insisted on his begging Gilkerson's pardon. He did and Gilkerson accepted. About that time Egbert came in and going around me said, "What in the h—l is the matter? I have been kept awake for an hour. Consider yourselves under arrest and report at 9 o'clock to-morrow." I said, excuse me gentlemen. Egbert came to take charge. Egbert said, you are a d—n liar. I said, you have tried to take my duties before. He called me a God d—n liar and a God d—n fool. I started out and he followed me. It was dark, but I could see that he had his left hand up and the other on his finch pocket. I was not physically able to cope with him, so I shot. Afterwards I asked Gilkerson about Egbert and Tom Pettus answered that he was shot in the arm. I then went towards home. I had Woodcock in charge when Egbert came in. Had seen Egbert that morning when I went to return some papers that he had asked for Monday. Went up stairs and found him with bottle in hand. He asked me to drink saying, you aren't used to such as this. I didn't drink as I was out of breath from walking up steps and feared it would strangle me. He asked me about some papers. I did not understand what to do with them and had asked chairman of trustees and he said hold them up. Egbert said, by God somebody's got to pay for them. When I shot him I believed he was going to assault me and I was not in physical condition to defend myself. Am unable to do anything that requires physical strength. I asked Egbert not to follow me and did not say I would shoot if he did. Have known Egbert for years and regarded him as a fearless, high tempered man, insulting when drinking. Knew that he carried weapons and considered him a dangerous man. He was generally so considered. Didn't know anybody was in bar-room when I went in, but Gilkerson and Woodcock began to talk rather loudly. As soon as Egbert came in I went out. Don't remember to have said I didn't like Egbert and he did not like me.

Curtis Gover: Was in C. O. and saw part of the trouble. I live about 50 feet from entrance of stable. Saw Egbert coming out front gate. He said, gentlemen, I have heard enough of this. Saunders said, by God if you are going to run this I will go home. Egbert said, you are a d—n fool. Saunders stepped several steps back and fired two shots. Before this Saunders said if you don't go away I will either shoot or hit you. Don't recall which. Couldn't see attitude of Egbert's hands. Saunders came out first and Egbert followed. Two shots fired close together. Saw Egbert when S. shot close together. Known Saunders four years and known Egbert several years. Think Egbert an irritable man, drunk at times. Saw him under influence many times. More irritable when drinking. Heard he was the gamest man in C. O. I considered him a dangerous man. Don't know that he was drinking day of killing.

Nath Woodcock: Was in C. O. at Gover's stable. In social conversation Gilkerson gave me the lie. I struck him. Saunders told me he would have to arrest me. I told him about going to Lancaster to testify next day and to arrest me would keep me away. I apologized to Gilkerson and we compromised. Egbert came over and said he wanted racket stopped. He told me to appear at his office. Saunders remarked, if you are going to run this thing I'll leave. Egbert said, yes I'm going to run it and ain't afraid of you. Saunders went out and Egbert followed. I then went back in the stable office. In a few seconds the shots were fired. I was in the office with Lee, but could not see the shooting. I had Lee by the arm and remarked this is a terrible thing. I was drinking, but not drunk. That day I had drunk blackberry cordial mostly. I did not see Walter Edmiston. Lee was in the room and I had hold of his arm. We were not talking unusually loud. Gilkerson said if I said I was in the war I was a d—n liar. Didn't think we were disturbing any one.

Dr. Carpenter: Knew Saunders; visited him last spring—in May. In bed and did not recognize me; I examined him, finally recognized me. Mind was wandering; thought he wasn't at home. He had brain trouble, enlarged liver, paralysis of nerves of side and heart trouble. Saw him again when he was better, but weak; frail man now, poverty of blood, prostration, heart disease. Judge Egbert was rather active and strong. Saunders was not able to cope with Egbert.

This closed the testimony for defense. Lee was called in rebuttal. He said, Woodcock did not have hold of me. I was in the door. Egbert had right hand up, talking.

Tom Pettus, recalled, said, Woodcock was in driveway when shooting took place and then ran back to stall 2.

The above is fair and impartial presentation of the testimony as is possible for us to give in long hand. We do not wish to prejudice the case in any particular, and only desire that justice alone shall be meted out to the prisoner. The public can judge for itself whether or not Saunders was justifiable in resorting to the fearful extremity of killing a fellow being.

Only two speeches were made, W. H. Miller, for the defense, and J. B. Paxton, for the prosecution, after which the case was submitted with the result as given above.

McKINNEY.

—The Favorite Mills have been shut down this week, undergoing needed repairs.

—Rev. W. W. Bruce filled his appointment at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon, and announced services at about 3:30 o'clock every Sunday hereafter.

—Several persons from this place attended the Sunday-school and mission convention at Middleburg Saturday and Sunday. A large crowd was present and seemingly enjoyed the spicy discussions right well.

—Prof. W. R. Cress and his assistant have an attendance of 90 pupils in school this week. The $400 spent in the improvement of school property is the best investment made by our citizens for quite a number of years. Let the improvements continue.

—Rev. Henry Martin, of Freestone, and Mrs. Susie Phelps, of Versailles, attended the marriage of their niece, Miss Mary Martin, near Turnersville, Wednesday. Messrs. John and V. M. Tanner, of Nashville, are visiting relatives here. Prof. J. H. Allen is attending the teachers' institute at Liberty this week. He will take charge of a department in the Janie Wash Institute at Middlesboro next Monday. Berry Smith, of Somerset, spent Saturday night with friends in our village. Miss Cordie Taylor, of Harrodsburg, stopped off here Monday on her way to Middleburg. She will have charge of the music department in the Janie Wash Institute. Bowman Smith, who is off duty at the depot, is reported in bed sick at Logan Green's at Mt. Salem. John Murphy and Anderson Nannelley are reported as resting quietly with "more profound hopes" of recovery. Mr. Ed Paul is off to Monticello on business for a week or ten days. Rev. W. J. Ward is still from home, presumably attending the Cumberland River Association in session this week at Eden, Pulaski county.

—A Wolfe county correspondent writes to his county paper, the Hazel Green Herald, that "we last Thursday had the pleasure of attending the funeral services of Aunt Susan Allen at the Poplar Grove church." Wonder what he had against the poor woman, that her last sad rites gave him so much joy?

—Mrs. Jennie E. Watkins, who was down from Gum Sulphur Wednesday, told us of the death of her brother, Henry M. Prewitt, which occurred on the 29th. He was working on the C. V. Branch when taken with typhoid fever, when he was brought to his mother's, Mrs. Lydia A. Prewitt, where he died, surrounded by his family and sisters, who have great faith that he has gone to a better world. Mr. Prewitt was 27 years of age and about five years ago married Miss Samantha Rumstey, of Yonemite, who with two children survive him.

—At Maybee Station, near Monroe Mich., a farmer and his wife were tortured and murdered by two tramps, bent upon robbery. A posse from the murderers and shot them to death. At Bloomfield, near Hartford, Conn., an aged man and his wife were murdered and their bodies thrown into the well by a tramp to whom they had given shelter.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Farmers are rushing preparations for wheat and the next crop will cover an almost unprecedented large acreage in this end.

—The Arctic wave has driven our pilgrims home from the various resorts, and suspended the watermelon traffic, which is here incompatible with big backlogs and last year's over coats.

—Our public school will commence Monday next, Sept. 7th, under the management of Miss Kittie Bogle, the most accomplished common-school teacher in the United States, not one excepted.

—Squire Adams' new well of nearly 100 foot depth, persists in yielding a salt and sulphur mixture repugnant to even the thirstiest buxcock, and in aggravation of his hard luck one of his favorite pigs "stole a march" on the butter-milk jar recently and was fished out a too fat subject for anatomists' scalpel and tenaculum.

—Reduction of the surplus having for some time been the principal policy of most notorious legislative bodies and many bank cashiers, our city fathers have had the street clearing brigades in full force for several days and the cosmopolitan visitor would now sooner suspect the boulevards of Paris of having been a hot bed of crab grass and mullein stalks than the thoroughfares of Hustonville.

—Mr. Jack Kirchner, of Covington, chief clerk in master mechanic's office of the L. & N., has been spending a pleasant outing here with his friend, Will Huffman, of the same department. We congratulate Will on becoming one of the important figures of that office. Miss Mary Adams has returned home after a 12 month's visit to Texas. Miss Mollie Adams, of Bolivar, Tenn., arrived last Friday at her uncle's, Squire L. B. Adams. Mr. Thomas Whitestone and wife, of Anniston, Ala., are visiting friends here.

—The insurance business has increased so rapidly with our new agent, Mr. J. M. Cook, that he has been forced to resign as deputy county clerk and Jim Goode can hereafter be found at the old stand properly equipped for transaction of all business in that line. By the way Jim was warmly for the new constitution and an active advocate till he stumbled on the information in a leading local paper that principally fools and niggers were favoring the adoption. Jim had difficulty in determining to which class he belonged and was cooled off for several days, but since returns are in and exact figures known he says the matter is perfectly plain. The vote against the constitution corresponds with the floating vote of the State and floaters being incited to their active opposition by fear of results to their business from adoption of a secret ballot system.

—A few nights since our unusually orderly city was thrown into a state of panic by a protracted small-arms fusillade on the immediate outskirts, which vividly recalled to the older citizens' memories of the early 60's, and drew the marshal and posse to the scene. Surrounding and capturing almost the entire brigade, intense relief followed recognition of our small and big boy population, whose commanding officer's official report of the engagement represents an unsuccessful engagement with a coon. A drumhead investigation next day resulted in an acquittal of all engaged through prosecuting attorney's inability to establish that the conflict occurred within corporate limits. Again we had peace. Our vigilant marshal, Al Burns, finding the perquisites of his office inadequate to maintenance of a supply of nice shoe-strings for his Oxford ties will soon be transplanted to your vicinity, where prospects of better pay are offered.

—A Wolfe county correspondent writes to his county paper, the Hazel Green Herald, that "we last Thursday had the pleasure of attending the funeral services of Aunt Susan Allen at the Poplar Grove church." Wonder what he had against the poor woman, that her last sad rites gave him so much joy?

—Mrs. Jennie E. Watkins, who was down from Gum Sulphur Wednesday, told us of the death of her brother, Henry M. Prewitt, which occurred on the 29th. He was working on the C. V. Branch when taken with typhoid fever, when he was brought to his mother's, Mrs. Lydia A. Prewitt, where he died, surrounded by his family and sisters, who have great faith that he has gone to a better world. Mr. Prewitt was 27 years of age and about five years ago married Miss Samantha Rumstey, of Yonemite, who with two children survive him.

—At Maybee Station, near Monroe Mich., a farmer and his wife were tortured and murdered by two tramps, bent upon robbery. A posse from the murderers and shot them to death. At Bloomfield, near Hartford, Conn., an aged man and his wife were murdered and their bodies thrown into the well by a tramp to whom they had given shelter.

W. P. WALTON.

Gov. JOHN YOUNG BROWN was inducted into office Tuesday with great pomp and circumstance, the civic and military parade being unusually imposing. The ceremonies occurred in the beautiful grounds surrounding the capitol and after prayer by Rev. George Darsie, Gov. Buckner gracefully and feelingly surrendered the trust he had guarded so faithfully. The mayor of Frankfort then introduced the new governor, who in a brief and eloquent address promised to see that the laws are executed and to do what he believes to be right, without selfish regard to consequences. His words were those of a statesman and patriot and further endeared him to the people, who have honored him. Chief Justice Holt, at the conclusion of the address, administered the oath of office and then there was a rush to congratulate the man, who for four years will be chief executive of the Commonwealth. At this point Squire Pat McDonald, with a huge embossed frame of resolutions, eulogistic of Gov. Buckner by the citizens of Frankfort came forward and presented them in a neat speech, to which the retiring governor responded beautifully and touchingly. Lt. Governor M. C. Allford then took the oath of office, the benediction was pronounced and a new era in the government of Kentucky was inaugurated. With his superior ability and long participation in the affairs of government and with a model administration to guide his steps, Gov. Brown is certain to make an executive that will reflect further lustre on the State he has served so well.

Gov. Brown's Cabinet is as follows: John W. Headley, of Louisville, Secretary of State, is a tobaccoist. He was born in this State, though for the most part he has made his home in Evansville, Ind. He was a gallant Confederate soldier and as spy for Gen. Bragg and afterwards as a member of Morgan's brigade did valiant service for that cause. He has never held office and was never a candidate, save for a short time against Caruth for Congress, from which he withdrew. Col. S. A. Norman, the Assistant Secretary of State, is a Tennessean by birth, but he has lived many years in Graves county, where he has held numerous offices. He is said to be a power in the First District and to have done yeoman service for the ticket in the recent election. Andrew Jackson Gross, who is made Adjutant General, is from Breckinridge and is the best known of the party, from the fact that he was U. S. Marshal under Cleveland and the further fact that the Courier-Journal and the Times never tire of singing his praises. He is a good democrat and a good fellow, but he had never been accused of a knowledge of military affairs. Frank Richardson, of Christian, is the new assistant Adjutant General. The private secretary, Archibald D. Brown, is a son of the governor and we trust a chip of the old block. Altogether the cabinet is a good one, even if it does smell very much of "pennyrite." But that end of the State is in the saddle, now and nobody can complain if it does the riding.

The lawbreakers can not derive much comfort from this extract from Gov. Brown's inaugural address as it is evident he is not going into the wholesale pardoning business. The welfare of a free State depends upon the maintenance of the supremacy of its laws. To the law-abiding these laws are a shield; to the malefactors they should be a sword. The certainty of punishment for crime is the surest restraint of the vicious. There should not be careless interference by the Chief Executive with the judgments of courts. The injunction of the constitution is that "he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed."

The official canvass of the August vote was made Monday, when it was found that Brown's majority over Wood is 28,081, Alford's over Houston 28,861, Hendrick's over Crawford 28,704, Norman's over Blandford 29,148, Hale's over Farmer 28,975, Thompson's over Dodge 28,762, Swango's over Rardin 29,066 and Addams over Blaine 30,098. Brown got the largest vote, but Adams the largest majority. The vote on the constitution stands: for 213,950, against 74,446, majority for 139,504.

All the papers agree that Urey Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, can get a railroad commissioner's job or any thing he wants under Gov. Brown. We should like to see Mr. Woodson appointed, if he desires it, but he is too good a newspaper man to go fooling after the flesh pots of office, which can last but a few years at best.

With a lovely wife and three as handsome daughters as grace the State noted for its beautiful women, Gov. Brown's social cabinet has not been equalled for many years, if ever, and a brilliant reign is assured. Misses Evelyn, Birdie and Susie Brown will make the executive mansion exceedingly attractive.

The con. con. is again in session and the denunciation promises to go on for some time. President Clay, although exultant over the victory of his bantling, seemed to be in a very bad humor and made a number of bad breaks. He was very severe in speaking of the provision allowing the railroad commissioners to be appointed by the governor, instead of being elected by the people, as he said it left the dominant party more or less in the hands of the railroads. The speech and the fact that Mr. Clay did not attend the inauguration is regarded as strong evidence that he is very sore over the triumph of Gov. Brown over him and will not be reconciled. A correspondent charges that his speech killed him politically as dead as a mackerel, but if he will see that the con. con. does its work and adjourns in a week, we believe all will be forgiven.

A DISPATCH from Washington says that Col. W. O. Bradley is pushing his brother-in-law, Col. T. Z. Morrow for one of the nine U. S. circuit judgeships, with considerable show of success. It is not exactly our fight, but we feel considerable interest in these two republicans and sincerely hope their objects will be realized. Judge Morrow is a fine lawyer and would bring to the Federal bench a capability, coupled with long experience and practice, that would at once place him in enviable distinction.

The Louisville Times' inaugural edition was the climax of enterprise in journalism. It had two solid pages of report, nearly every line of which had to be written and telegraphed after the ceremonies, and so completely covered the ground as to leave nothing for the morning papers but the ball. Verily the Times is a great paper.

Miss MINNIE STRAUH returned to Louisville yesterday to resume her position in a millinery. Miss Allie Hendricks accompanied her for the purpose of visiting friends. Miss MARY ALCOHN has been selected as one of the maids of honor at the Sate-elites Ball in Louisville this fall. She is a lovely little blonde and will do credit to the section she represents. Miss LOUIS TIPTON, of Dyersburg, Tenn., arrived promptly to take her position in the Faculty at the College. Her health was entirely restored during the vacation. Miss Nellie Tipton came with Miss Tipton and will attend College. Our foreman, Mr. Joe F. Waters, completed yesterday the 17th consecutive year of an honorable and highly satisfactory service on the INTERIOR JOURNAL. Few men have labored so continuously and faithfully as he and the proprietor is fully appreciative of his loyalty and excellent work. A PICTURE and sketch of the life of Dr. E. McDowell Coffey appears in the current issue of the Platte City, Mo., Lanthorn. The doctor is a native of Hustonville, this county, where he was born in 1829. An appointment as treasurer of the Missouri World's Fair Commission is what brings him into present prominence.

CITY AND VICINITY.

NEW timothy seed at J. B. Foster's. Buy your feeding oats of B. K. & W. H. Wearen. AMANDA BRISCOE, a respectable colored woman, died at her home at Walnut Flat, of dropsy, Wednesday. OUR stock is complete in all seasonable goods and you are invited to call and inspect it. Severance & Son. WM. GILL, negro, is under arrest at Rowland for stealing a value with $20 worth of clothing from Nick Brady.

THREE desirable rooms for rent. J. H. Craig.

FRESH oysters served at all hours at Zimmer's.

FOR SALE.—My house and lot on Lancaster street. J. A. Carpenter.

You are invited to examine our new dress goods, the most complete stock we have ever had. Severance & Son.

ELOPED.—Mr. James Miller and Miss Kate Culton, of Barbourville, eloped stern parents and reaching Jellico in safety, were made one flesh.

THE time for early closing ending with Sept. 1, our merchants have resumed their old plan of keeping their stores open as late as possible.

Mrs. M. L. WELLS, a distinguished lecturer, will address the people on temperance and the principles of the W. C. T. U. at the Christian church, Monday evening, 7th, at 7:45. The lecture is free and all are invited.

FINED FOR FIGHTING.—Frank Bowerman, a railroad man with headquarters at Rowland, was fined $10 for fighting by Judge Barnett, Wednesday. Although he had the money in his pocket, he went to jail in preference to paying the fine.

GROVE KENNEDY was here yesterday and like a gentleman apologized to Sheriff Menefee for unnecessary and insulting language on Monday. They are good friends and Mr. Kennedy would not have made the break if he had been himself.

SAUNDERS' friends have not made bond for him yet. The idea seems to be to prove that his condition is such that a stay in jail will kill him and get his bail reduced. This will hardly work, however as the bail is thought to be low enough now.

THE College opened with 60 odd pupils and yesterday the number had increased to 70 or more, with the prospect of many other matriculations. The seminary, Prof. B. F. Blakeman principal, had 25 pupils at the opening, which number will be increased to 40 or over.

You can go over the L. & N.'s new route to Norfolk, Va., on the sea coast, on Sunday or Monday nights for the small round-trip fare of $14. Consult W. W. Penn, Junction City, for sleeping car accommodations if you intend to take advantage of a golden opportunity.

THE announcement of the candidacy of Robert R. Gentry for Sheriff of Lincoln county appears in this issue. Mr. Gentry is a capable business man, a democrat in whom there is no guile and a clever and popular gentleman, who will fill the office with credit, if his ambition is gratified.

MR. MILLER did not go to Frankfort at the time stated. He promised to have the constitution endorsed in Lincoln by a majority of 1,500 and he is perhaps waiting a few days longer to invent a reason for his miscalculation. It will be remembered that we gave a majority of 282 against the instrument.

SINCE the discontinuation of the mail route between Stanford and Rowland by bus, it takes mail more than 18 hours to come from Richmond and other points on the K. C. south. As the service was done at a nominal cost, and was of much value to our citizens, it should not have been discontinued and an effort will be made to have it resumed.

CREAMERY.—Mr. J. Ottenheimer purchased the creamery plant here Wednesday and had it taken to Ottenheim, where he will put it up and go largely into the business of butter and cheese making. This will give the colonists a ready market for their milk and prove of great value to them, while adding, we hope, to the purse of the enterprising proprietor.

THE store of Mr. Isaac Hamilton at Rowland was entered by burglars Wednesday night and relieved of a lot of gold rings, breast-pins and other jewelry, clothing, hats, &c., to the value perhaps of $200. Entrance was gained by sawing out a section of the floor, and coming up from the ground. There is a pretty good clue to the rogues and they will no doubt be apprehended in due time.

THERE has been a general shake up in the train dispatcher's office on this division. Mr. G. W. Craft, the excellent christian gentleman, who has been chief for several months, has resigned, and Mr. J. M. Scott, from the main line, will take his place. Mr. J. A. Mudd will have the first "trick," T. A. Rice the second and L. M. Westerfield the third. Mr. J. A. Bower is day copist in the office.

THE Bijou Theatre Co., though laboring under difficulties, has demonstrated here this week that it can give a good show under any circumstances. The members are all clever people and do their work well, while Miss Hearn and John C. Core, who take the leading parts, are especially praiseworthy. The engagement of three nights closed last night, when, "The Race for Congress" was presented, with prospects at this writing that there would be a good attendance. The company will put in to-night and to-morrow night at Junction City, and next week will hold the boards at Somerset during the fair.

SEVERAL refreshing showers fell yesterday.

Those indebted to me for extras and twine will confer a great favor by paying at once. Jo Severance, Jr.

THE Barbourville fair to-day and to-morrow will draw some of our citizens to that lively little place in the mountains.

THE force at the depot has been reduced by the discharge of the porter, Walker Sutton, who has filled the place so long and so well, and his duties will devolve on the agent and assistant.

THE city council is still waiting on the Philadelphia man to come and say what he will put the water works in for and the prospect is that it will continue to wait. We are burning day light now and we suggest that a new deal be called.

THE Alford Guards, of Middleboro, passed back Wednesday, after their outing at Frankfort and participating in the inaugural parade. Two of them were in charge of sheriff to answer an indictment for the murder of Rossimus, who was mobbed in Middleboro in August.

MR. D. G. SLAUGHTER writes that the row which was credited to Green Briar Springs was an error that did his resort injustice. Our Crab Orchard correspondent wrote Dripping Springs, but the compositor though the knew better and changed it to Green Briar. Mr. Slaughter prides himself on his good order and boasts of the fact that there was never a fuss of any description at Green Briar.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Nathan H. Gooch, a widower of 53, and Mrs. Elizabeth Gooch, a widow of 35, obtained license Wednesday to marry on the 9th.

—Mr. James Peck and Miss Mary Martin, the handsome daughter of Mrs. M. A. Martin, were married at her residence near Turnersville, Wednesday. The I. J. wishes them long lives of unalloyed happiness.

—Miss Mary Dunlap, who has frequently visited this place, and who has a number of admirers here, will be married on Wednesday next to Mr. Dudley M. Bowman, Jr., a prosperous young Mercer county farmer and horseman. The ceremony will take place at the Christian church, Danville, and afterwards the young couple will be entertained at the groom's home by his parents.

—Prof. J. M. Rupley, of Centre College Academy, and Miss Stella A. Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Sanders, were married at the latter's residence, near Elizabethtown, Tuesday, by the Rev. W. Y. Sheppard. Prof. Rupley is a very excellent young man and a fine teacher, while his bride, who recently graduated at the Garrard College, is a very lovely and accomplished young lady. The I. J. sends happy greetings and congratulations.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. Mark Collins arrived yesterday afternoon to preach his promised sermon last night on Baptism.

—Rev. C. P. Williamson, pastor of the Christian church in Richmond, has accepted a call to fill the pulpit of the Christian church in Atlanta, Ga. He will leave in October.—Clinax.

—Rev. Ben Helm is having his recent sermon on "Scriptural Baptism from a Bible Stand Point" printed in pamphlet form, at the urgent solicitation of many who desire to have it in permanent form.

—Mrs. Martha Clark, married and a leading member of the Flat Rock, Ind., M. E. church, is on trial, charged with taking a long ride with Nelson Young, a gay widower, and with hugging and kissing him. Six lady members of the congregation preferred the charges against her. If Mr. Young is a gentleman he will follow the example of the Prince of Wales.

—Rev. T. P. Dudley, Jr., clerk of the Tate's Creek Association of United Baptists, was here Tuesday and contracted for the printing of his minutes. Mr. Dudley is attending the theological seminary at Rochester, N. Y., from which he will graduate next year, when he will probably go as a missionary to China. During the summer he preached for a church away up in Wisconsin. He is fully alive to the importance of his calling and is destined to make a name for himself and do great good for the Master.

HUBBLE.

—Mrs. Duncan & Menefee sold Tom Wood 13 steers weighing about 1,000 pounds at $240. Miss Myra Owsley is doing as well as could be expected. Mr. O. T. Wallace has been out surveying the O. Ball land, but has failed to get it satisfactory so far on account of the old papers not being rightly drawn up. Wm. Hubble has engaged with Mr. Miller, of Garrard county, to feed his hogs at 3½ cents. Mrs. Colonel Underwood has gone to Illinois to visit her sister, Mrs. Miller. Mad-dog excitement is again going the rounds here, and is causing several curs to lose their life. Wesley Sutton sold 9 cattle, good ones, weighing 1,250 pounds to Richard Cobb at 4 cents. G. A. Swinebrod sold his good wheat at Lancaster to Marksbury for 90 cents and his smutty wheat at 75 cents. Mrs. Dunbar is at Crab Orchard Springs spending a few days for her health. Mrs. B. W. Givens is spending this week among connections here. Wm. Hubble is fixing to visit relatives in Pulaski,

VALUABLE LINCOLN COUNTY FARM!

At the mansion house on the premises

ON TUESDAY, SEP. 15, 1891,

At 10 o'clock A. M. I will, as executor of the last will of Thornton Porter, dec'd, and by authority thereof, sell at public auction to the highest bidder the farm on which decedent resided. This farm is on Gilbert's Creek in Lincoln county, fronting on the L. & N. R. R., at Gilbert's Creek Station, and contains 110 Acres and 11 Poles of Land.

The land is first-class and improvements, fencing, &c., are fairly good. The tract will be offered in three separate parcels, one of 10 acres, 11 poles, at the station, the second of 30 acres and the third, on which is the residence of 60 acres. After the three parcels have thus been separately offered the entire tract will be offered as a whole and the bid or bids realizing the largest price will be accepted. All three of these tracts have a frontage on an excellent county road leading, at a distance of half a mile, to the Stanford & Lancaster turnpike road.
The sale will be absolute and without conditions. Possession for sowing grain will be given at once to the purchaser, and full possession on January 1st, 1892.
TERMS OF SALE:—One third cash in hand when sale is made, the remainder in two equal installments at 6 and 12 months from day of sale. Bonds with good surety bearing 6 per cent. interest from day of sale required of purchaser. A lien will be retained in land for cash purchase money.
